Conference on Climate Change Justice

Friday-Saturday, May 11-12, 2012
University of Chicago Law School
1111 E. 60th Street, Chicago, IL 60637 – Room F

Scheduled Talks:

Friday, May 11

- 8:45–9:00 Opening Remarks
- 9:00–9:45 Dale Jamieson: Consequentialism and Climate Justice
- 9:45–10:30 Lukas Meyer: Why Historical Emissions Should Count
- 10:30 Break
- 11:00–11:45 Martha Nussbaum: Why Theories of Justice Matter
- 11:45–12:30 Henry Shue: Climate Hope: Fair Shares in the Exit Strategy
- 12:30–1:45 Lunch
- 1:45–2:30 Ray Pierrehumbert: Cumulative Carbon and Just Distribution of the Global Carbon Commons
- 3:15 Break
- 3:45–4:30 Christian Gollier: The Debate on Discounting: Reconciling Positivists and Ethicists
- 4:30–5:15 Marc Fleurbaey: Climate Policies Deserve a Negative Discount Rate

Saturday, May 12

- 9:00–9:45 Paul Baer: Who Should Pay for Climate Change? “Not Me”
- 9:45–10:30 Dan Farber: Subglobal Climate Action: Symbolic, Substantive, or Strategic?
- 10:30 Break
- 11:00–11:45 Yoram Margalioth: Analysis of the U.S. Case in Climate Change Negotiations: Distinguishing between Power and Moral Arguments
- 11:45–12:30 Eric A. Posner and David Weisbach: Climate Change Justice: Means and Ends

Organized by Professor Omri Ben-Shahar

This event is free and open to the public, but advance registration is encouraged. For special assistance or to register, please contact Marjorie Holme at 773.702.0220 or mholme@uchicago.edu.