The University of Chicago Beijing Center

The symposium will pay tribute to Professor Ronald Coase (1910–2013) by examining how the methodology of law and economics has influenced the teaching of law. Scholars will discuss various approaches on how to introduce law and economics into the classroom in Chinese universities.

The Program

2:00 pm: Arrival and reception at University of Chicago Center in Beijing
Opening Remarks by Omri Ben-Shahar, Leo and Eileen Herzel Professor of Law and Kearney Director of the Coase-Sandor Institute for Law and Economics, University of Chicago Law School

2:30 pm: Panel 1: Teaching Law and Economics as a Stand-Alone Course
Xue Zhaofeng, Professor, Peking University
Ai Jiahui, Professor, Nanjing University Law School
Liao Zhimim, Professor, East China University of Political Science and Law
Qing Zhang, Professor, China University of Political Science and Law

4:00 pm: Panel 2: Integrating Law and Economics into the Traditional Law Courses
Han Shiyuan, Professor, Tsinghua University School of Law
Wu Guangming, Professor, National Taipei University, Taiwan
Xu Defeng, Professor, Peking University Law School

5:30pm: Dinner

The speakers on both panels will discuss their approach to teaching law and economics. The discussion will be in Chinese. Professor Ben-Shahar will be the mediator and will provide a few remarks on the American experience in this area. His remarks will be in English.

This is the first of many planned events to be sponsored by the University of Chicago's Coase-Sandor Institute for Law and Economics, intended for an advanced-level exchange among Chinese law and economics scholars.

Participation is free and open to all. Any scholar interested in law-and-economics teaching is invited. Please circulate this invitation to your colleagues and other scholars.

Please RSVP to (mholme@uchicago.edu) as soon as you arrange your schedule to come to Beijing and join in the conversation.

The University of Chicago Center in Beijing 20th floor, Culture Plaza
No. 59A Zhong Guan Cun Street Haidian District Beijing 100872 People's Republic of China